Experience

Mr Boshell graduated from the University of Southampton in 2010 with a BSc (Hons) degree in podiatry and took up his first podiatry job within the NHS in Greenwich, London gaining experience in all aspects of podiatry including diabetic footcare, biomechanics/musculoskeletal assessments, and podiatric surgery. Following this, Mr Boshell progressed to a new post for the NHS as a Musculoskeletal Specialist Podiatrist and part of the podiatric surgery (foot & ankle surgery) team based at St James' Hospital, Portsmouth. He has also worked as part of an NHS diabetes and podiatric surgery team at Buxton Hospital, Buxton, Derbyshire.

Mr Boshell gained additional postgraduate qualifications, completing a Masters degree in Podiatric Surgery at The University of Brighton in 2016. He has an extended scope of practice which means he is able to offer additional expertise and treatments than those provided by most other podiatrists including the ability to refer and interpret diagnostic imaging tests (x-rays, ultrasound, MRI), performing ultrasound guided advanced therapeutic injection therapies and minor surgical procedures. He is an independent prescriber which allows him access and prescribe prescription only medicines

He currently works full time in private practice based in Box, Wiltshire offering a wide range of services for foot & ankle conditions.

Mr Boshell has completed the widely recognised Cardiff University Bond Solon Expert Witness Certificate training. Mr Boshell started undertaking medicolegal work in 2022. He takes instructions from solicitors across England for producing expert witness reports relating to personal injury and medical negligence.
