Solihull.
West Midlands. B92 0JJ.

I am John Young, a United Kingdom based Health Care Professions Council (HCPC)-registered Prosthetist / Orthotist and a member of the British Association of Prosthetists and Orthotists (BAPO) with over 36 years experience in the National Health Service, the private sector and working in specialist orthotic and prosthetic clinics overseas.

My clinical expertise includes all aspects of amputee and prosthetic rehabilitation, treating traumatic, vascular, cancer, paediatric and congenital cases. I act as an Orthotic and Prosthetic Expert to undertake medico-legal work for both plaintiff and defendant and as a Joint Expert.

My clinical expertise includes all aspects of rehabilitation.

I have worked as Head of Orthotics and Prosthetics for Otto Bock Health Care Plc providing the full range of rehabilitation services, bespoke and complex orthotic and prosthetic devices to the NHS whilst keeping the focus on maintaining patient care. Prior to that I was Managing Director of Orthotic Services Limited, Birmingham during which period I was instrumental in the development and provision of the orthotic services to Malta. I have extensive clinical experience having initially trained at The Royal Orthopaedic Hospital, Birmingham for 4 years and then in specialist centres throughout the UK, including Stoke Mandeville, Guys and St.Thomas's Hospital, London, The Robert Jones and Agnes Hunt Hospital, Oswestry, and Coventry and Warwickshire Hospitals.

Throughout my career, I have made continual professional development (CPD) a corner stone of my work keeping my skill base and Knowledge within my field up to date.

I routinely treat severely disabled people with congenital as well as acquired conditions.

I have also prepared reports in collaboration with Dr. Jeff Lindsay where clients have complex disabilities as a result of Medical Negligence or Accidents.

I have undertaken Medico-Legal work over many years for both Plaintiff and Defendant and also as Joint Expert. I have always considered that my duty should be to the Court and to give a fair, reasonable and unbiased opinion based upon the facts in conjunction with knowledge and experience gained over many years. My areas of expertise are seeing clients who have suffered injuries sustained in road traffic accidents, accidents at the work place, and other disabilities as a result of medical negligence, where the client will need to be supplied with an orthosis or prosthesis.
