Current Clinical Duties

I work as a Consultant Orthopaedic Trauma Surgeon in a University Hospital which serves as the major trauma centre for the Birmingham region. I specialise in complex lower limb trauma including peri-articular fractures, foot and ankle injuries and orthoplastic limb salvage. My elective work involves limb reconstruction of non-unions, bone infection and deformity as well as post-traumatic foot and ankle disorders. Our unit receives tertiary referrals from across the West Midlands. I am the Clinical Lead for Orthopaedic Trauma at University Hospitals, Birmingham.

Research and Teaching Interests

I have published papers in peer reviewed journals on orthopaedics in general and orthopaedic trauma. I have presented work at both national and international conferences and teach on a number of national courses in the field of orthopaedic trauma. I am Associate Editor of Trauma, a peer reviewed journal dealing with trauma care.
