Horticultural Consultancy

Personal Profile

Barry Holdsworth MBA, RHS Dip, MI Hort, MCMI, M.Arbor.A.

Barry is a professional horticulturalist and has been working in this field for over twenty five years. He has developed a successful horticultural consultancy business that provides advice on all aspects of managing and developing gardens and landscapes – from design to implementation, through to the maintenance and conservation of the garden. The consultancy's aim is to maximise the garden's full potential by working closely with their clients in understanding their requirements to provide innovative and practical solutions that are cost effective. The approach is to apply modern management techniques that are combined with practical and theoretical horticultural experience. The consultancy operates throughout the UK and abroad providing a personal service to a wide range of private and corporate clients.

Barry Holdsworth offers services across a wide range of activities within amenity horticulture, including landscape design for new building developments, existing gardens and historical renovation projects.

Designs have been publicly recognised - New Homes Garden Awards, The Evening Standard New Homes Awards and The Chelsea Flower Show.

Barry's knowledge and experience in the horticultural field has been shared with many listeners when he was a regular contributor on BBC Southern Counties radio gardening programme. His work has been featured in a number of press articles in Country Life, The English Garden, The Kitchen Garden Magazine and The Telegraph, as well as on television.
