

Medico-legal CV summary – December 2023

Dr Gordana Prelevic, MD MSc DSc FRCP CUEW MEWI

Consultant Endocrinologist
20 Crossfield Road, London, NW3 4NT
e-mail: gprelevic@femhormones.co.uk

GMC: 4246626
ICO: ZA037400
MDU: 348329F

Special interests:

Reproductive Endocrinology
Menopause, Premature menopause, HRT
Osteoporosis, Steroid induced osteoporosis
Thyroid disorders, Hypothyroidism, Thyrotoxicosis
Hyperparathyroidism
Hypopituitarism, TBI

Qualifications:

MD (University of Belgrade, 1971)
MSc in Endocrinology (University of Belgrade 1978)
Specialist Certificate in Internal Medicine (Belgrade, 1979)
DSc in Reproductive Endocrinology (University of Belgrade, 1985)
FRCP (London, 1995)
CUEW - The Certificate of Expert Witness Accreditation (Cardiff University 2005)

Formerly:

Professor of Medicine/Endocrinology, Belgrade University School of Medicine
Senior Lecturer in Reproductive Endocrinology, University College, London
Honorary Consultant Endocrinologist, University College Hospital, London
Consultant Endocrinologist, Royal Free Hospital, London
Consultant in Reproductive Endocrinology, Whittington Hospital, London

Professional Memberships:

Expert Witness Institute (since 2006)
The Faculty of Expert Witnesses for Doctors – FEW (since 2015)

Medico-legal Practice: since 2001

Volume of instructions undertaken: Between 18 and 25 new cases per year

Distribution of instructions: claimant 88%, defence 8% and joint expert 4%

Type of Claims: personal injury 16%, clinical negligence 84%

Recent Continuous medico-legal training:

BMA Medico-legal conference – March 2019
Lessons from the courtroom, Expert Witness Institute – March 2019
Specialist Info – Clinical Negligence medico-legal course – April 2022
BMA Medico-Legal Conference – June 2023
Advanced Expert Witness Reaccreditation course – November 2023

Publications:

Over 300 publications including 103 scientific papers published in international peer-reviewed medical journals and over 20 book chapters.

Co-edited “Drug Therapy in Reproductive Endocrinology”, Arnold Publishing, 1996.

Full CV and list of publication available on request.