Research grants and awards

Over the past 30 years I have played a central role in bidding groups, teams and organisations which successfully secured over 50 separate awards/grants. I devised, tendered, commissioned approximately 100 separate research projects from 1984 – 2015, most I subsequently managed. I have considerable experience of managing research teams and fieldwork teams, including upwards of 60 field staff at any one time. I have experience managing longitudinal field work (over 2 yrs) involving different staff teams working in different regional cities. Some recent projects include:-

- Mopac – Cannabis and Violence (2021) - £35,000
- LB of Redbridge – Crime and drug markets in Ilford - £40,000
- Mopac Gang Perception Study, (2020) £47,000
- Evaluation of Youth interventions, ECORYS, (2019) £125,000
- Seed funding, Community Safety Review UWL (2018) £2,700
- Diversity, JUST/2014/Action Grant, (2016-18) £470,000
- Home Office, Evaluation of Home Office EGYV programme, (2015 -16) £10,500
- League Against Cruel Sports, Dog fighting in the UK – (2016) £20,000
- Safer London Foundation, Empower evaluation – (2014) - £29,000

Harding, S. (2012) Unleashed: The Phenomenon of Status Dogs and Weapon Dogs, Bristol: The Policy Press was shortlisted for the British Sociological Association Phillip Abrams book prize in 2013 and also for shortlisted for the British Society of Criminology book prize in 2013.

Harding, S. (2014) The Street Casino: survival in the violent street gang was awarded the Frederick Milton Thrasher Award for Superior Gang Research by the National Gang Crime Research Centre Conference in Chicago on 11th August 2014. The Frederick Milton Thrasher Award was established by the journal of Gang Research in 1992 to honour and recognise outstanding scholarship, leadership and service contributions by individuals and programs in dealing with public safety issues like that posed by gangs.

In 2017 I was awarded the Academic Staff Member of the Year for the Law School at Middlesex University, as voted by students.
