The respondent had already considered the "first complaint" and proceedings in relation to it were concluded when the claimant discontinued his case in Pontypridd County Council. Venue	Cardiff Magistrates Court

Dates	2013
Nature	Jonathan Bishop v Rhondda Cynon Taf County Borough Council

Description	The claimant was a school governor at a primary school in an area covered by the defendant's remit as a local education authority. The claimant whistle-blew to the defendant in relation to poor standards. The defendant sent these concerns to the school claiming they were "derogatory." This resulted in the school suspending the claimant as a governor. The claimant sought relief from the Employment Tribunal claiming that the employment status criteria of an employee and office holder applied to him and this made him a 'worker' so he could be protected by the whistleblowing provisions of the Employment Rights Act 1996. The court ruled this was not the case as it had never been intended for the claimant to be a worker, but it was evident that he did meet the criteria to be a 'governor.'

Nature	Jonathan Bishop v The Co-operative Party
Description	The claimant contested he was unfairly dismissed by the respondent when his membership was terminated after be formed the 'One Pontypridd Coalition' with other directors of co-operatives who were members of Plaid Cymru. At the time Plaid Cymru were in coalition with the Labour Party in the Welsh Government, of which some were also Co-operative Party members. The claimant contested that he went into coalition with other co-operators following the Labour Party coalition of councillors refusing to afford him reasonable adjustments and had the same right as Labour Assembly members to do so. The Labour Party refused to take action against the alleged discrimination by the town council Labour group on the basis that it did not recognise such units as being part of the Labour Party. The claimant thus contested that it was wrong for the respondent to withdraw his membership as even if their agreement with the Labour Party precluded Members co-operating with other co-operators who were not members of the Labour Party that this did not apply to down councils and was in breach of the Rochdale principles, which mandate co-operators must co-operate with other co-operators.
Venue	Cardiff Employment Tribunal
Outcome	Case dismissed (tribunal no longer correct jurisdiction)

Dates	2006
Nature	Jonathan Bishop v Michael John Powell
Description	It was alleged that the defendant, a county councillor, breached the claimant's right to a private life (Article 8 ECHR) by photographing him in a public place and publishing it online. The defendant argued that as the claimant was a former councillor, self-promoted himself online and more generally "courted publicity" that the defendant's rights to freedom of expression (Article 10 ECHR). The court considered Elton John v Associated Newspapers Ltd [2006] EWHC 1611 (QB) [2006] E.M.L.R. 27, Campbell v Mirror Group Newspapers [2004] 2 W.L.R. 1232 [2004] E.M.L.R. 15 and Von Hannover v Germany (no 1) [2004] E.M.L.R. 21 and ruled that there was no personal information conveyed in the photographs and as the claimant was a public figure his rights to privacy were diminished because of this.
